Dear valued customer,

We are happy to bring to you another edition of our newsletter. We hope that you are finding them useful. In November 2004 the UNHCR embarked on a training program to train and equip the youth ( between the ages of sixteen and twenty – nine) of the Budumburam refugee camp in the central region of Ghana, with IT skills to enable them fill the void that the war has caused in Liberia. When the first exams was held to identify suitable students for the program three to four thousand students sat for the exams. Five hundred students were then picked to undergo the first phase of the training which consisted of hardware and software training .three hundred students successfully completed this phase and moved on to the second phase to study networking (NT) at the KOFI ANNAN CENTER OF EXCELLENCE IN ICT. Out of these three hundred students thirty-five successfully moved on to CISCO training. Seven of the thirty- five however passed the international CISCO certification exams.

Out of the seven NAS has received six of them and is committed to given them further training in some key areas and to expose them to the work environment. We would like to take this opportunity to introduce to you:

As part of our commitment to bringing you the best service possible , Our staff after successfully completing training on TEAM WORK / TEAM BUILDING moved on to a well outlined course on SALES AND PRODUCT KNOWLEDGE which was facilitated by two competent trainers (Mr. Mark Awuah and Ms. Akasi Cudjoe). Three members of staff were awarded certificates and cash for their outstanding performances in this course. Pictures below.
